

Congress enacted the No Surprises Act - NSA to hold health insurers to higher standards of payment

NSA

THE PROBLEM

Across the healthcare industry, providers are experiencing:

- Chronic underpayment of claims
- Delayed or denied reimbursements
- Improper application of fee schedules
- No Surprises Act (NSA) disputes
- Unresolved out-of-network payments
- Administrative exhaustion without resolution

These issues directly impact cash flow, staffing, and patient care operations.

NSA

The Data

- Inception Q1 2023 – Providers won 68% of Arbitration disputes
- Latest data Q2 2025 – Providers won 91% of Arbitration disputes
- Florida Q4 2024 – Providers won 89.7% of Arbitration disputes
- Median IDR award 459% of Qualified Payment Amount (QPA)(median in-network rate an Insurance Carrier pays)(their “usual and customary” argument
- Winning Arbitration Awards were higher than the QPA 88% of the time through Q2 2025
- Median time for Arbitration Award – 81 days

Why This Matters

High success rate for providers – With win rates now above 85%, providers have a strong chance of recovering payment. Providers receive awards three- to five-times higher than the QPA, and some specialties achieve even higher multipliers (some providers hitting 934% of the QPA in 2024)

How We Help Your Team

- Data collection – Gather medical records, claim documents and network rate benchmarks.
- Negotiation – Initiate the required 30-day open negotiation period with the insurer and craft a defensible payment offer.
- Arbitration – File IDR cases on your behalf, pay the necessary fees up front and argue for the highest possible award. Because providers win over 85 % of the time, our strategy maximizes recovery.

How We Help Your Team

- Litigation when necessary – some claims do not qualify for Arbitration, and as such, litigation may be necessary to collect what is rightfully due and owing. Often times, this comes down to what sort of insurance is in play, and whether you, as a provide, are In Network or Out of Network for the patient.
- Compliance – Manage timelines to avoid missed deadlines (4-day filing window, 30-day payment window) and preserve your rights under the NSA.
- Training – help your staff properly organize files and data for assistance with managing deadlines, and for the smooth transition of data.

WHAT WE DO

1

Optimize results

- We leverage IDR data showing which specialties and CPT codes receive the highest awards. We tailor offers to mirror winning cases and emphasize the complexity of your services to justify awards well above the QPA.

Reduce administrative burden

- The IDR program's high volume (millions of disputes) and long waits (median 81 days) can overwhelm hospital staff. Our team handles all paperwork, filings and arbitrator interactions. We monitor each case, appeal misapplied fees and ensure timely payment once an award is issued.

WHAT WE DO

Transparent contingency fee

- We charge no upfront fee. Our compensation is tied to the additional payments we recover for your hospital. The more we collect, the more you benefit.

Unlock revenue from your past claims.

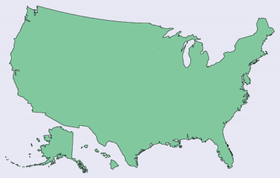

- The data show that the federal IDR system overwhelmingly favors providers and yields payments far above the QPA. Many providers have yet to tap this revenue stream. Contact us for a complimentary assessment of your claims portfolio. If we identify significant underpayments, we will pursue them aggressively through the IDR and state arbitration processes – and you will pay nothing unless we recover funds on your behalf.
